THE RUTLAND WORKBENCH

RUTLAND WORKBENCH

Step 1

Start by placing the 2 leg assemblies, spaced approximately the length of your bench apart, facing each other, ensuring that they are correctly oriented as shown with the braces outermost and their lower end towards the front.

Step 2

Now lower the shelf into place, resting it on the lower cross-member of each leg assembly.

Step 3

Ensure the end of the shelf is flush with the leg assembly and secure into place at the front and rear of the shelf with a 65mm screw at each corner. (45mm screw for MDF version)

Step 4

If you have a 2nd shelf, lower it into place onto the intermediate cross-member of the leg assemblies and fix into place as you did for the bottom shelf.

Step 5

Lower the bench top into place...

Step 6

...and working from underneath the top ensure the top of each leg is located as shown, butted against the inner edges of the top before fixing each leg into place with 2 x 60mm coach screws.

Step 7

Take one of the rear braces and butt one of the 45° faces against the inner edge of the rear leg as shown ensuring it is flush with the rear face...

Step 8

...and the other end is snug against the underside of the bench top. Secure the top of the brace using 2 x 60mm coach screws...

Step 9

...and the lower end using a 75mm screw as shown here.

Step 10

To attach a back rest place it, resting on the rear of the work bench as shown, with each end flush with the table top ends...

Step 11

...and secure into place using 4 x 75mm screws. (45mm screws for MDF version)

Step 12

Your Rutland Workbench is now complete.
